III. Course Description

(3 credit hours) – Materials commonly used for biomedical application, such as their properties from a biocompatibility or medical device perspective. In addition, materials interactions with biological systems are examined from the molecular (e.g., protein), cellular, tissue and systemic (whole body) perspective. This is the foundation for the second biomaterials class, which applies these principles toward the application of biomaterials in medical implants, prostheses and devices, along with the regulatory issues associated with biomaterials development.

IV. Course Pre-Requisites / Co-Requisites

EMA3066

V. Course Objectives

This course will provide an introduction to the field of biomaterials used in the design of medical devices, and to augment or replace soft and hard tissues. Discussion will include the bulk properties, applications, and in vivo behavior of different classes of natural and synthetic biomaterials. Analysis of the biological response including biocompatibility and hemocompatibility as well as failure processes of implantable biomaterials/devices. Finally, evaluations of relevant case studies covering biomaterial approaches will be conducted.

X. Class Policies (Attendance Policy, Class Expectations, and Make-Up Policy)

- A. Attendance Policy- Lecture attendance is highly recommended. During certain parts of the class, attendance will be mandatory and a lack of attendance will affect your grade. Experience has shown that those who attend lectures earn higher grades in the course. Arrival on time is expected. Excused absences are consistent with university policies in the undergraduate catalog (<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>) and require appropriate documentation.

- B. Class Expectations- Please turn off all cell phones upon entering class. Reading of newspapers, work on assignments for this or other classes, or other activities that are not part of the class are not allowed during lecture. Students who do not comply with these requirements or who behave disorderly or disrespectfully may be asked to leave the classroom.
- C. Exams- All of our exams will be during our regular scheduled class time, therefore there should be no exam conflicts.

Make-up exams- Make up exams will be provided only with the prior approval of the instructor in accordance with university policies. (In general, acceptable reasons for excused absence include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements, military obligation, court-imposed legal obligations, and religious holidays. In all cases, you will be required to provide written documentation, and obtain prior instructor approval. In the case of an emergency that prevents prior notification of an anticipated missed exam, you must notify the instructor as soon as possible. You will not be excused from any exam without following the policy above, with no exceptions. Students not in attendance for the scheduled exam will receive a score of zero. To be clear, Make-up exams will only be allowed in exceptional cases, with prior instructor approval, sufficient documentation, and in accordance of university policies. (<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>)

You must notify the instructor no less than 1 week of the scheduled exam.

Make-up exams for excused absences must occur within 1 week of the missed exam, and may occur before the missed exam.
